About the State

Rev. M. W. Hale has resigned as pas-tor of the Congregational church at Fridgewater, his resignation to take effect October 1.

Two hundred bushels of plums and a large crop of pears and prones is the product of the orchard of Bert Hurlburt of Milton this season. Twenty-six teams and a motor boat brought people to see the crop in one day recently,

S. A. Read of Windsor, was Tuesday appointed grand marshal of the grand lodge of Odd Fellowship, which meets at Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 16. Mr. Roed was four years representative to the grand lodge, and for one year grand master of Vermont.

S. Bloch of St. Albans appears to be fated in the matter of fires, as an explosion of gasoline caused a fire which gutted his clothes repairing shop last. July and again Tuesday. In the last fire, the loss to the stock of Mr. Bloca was extensive, but damage to the building was slight.

The store of Thompson & Howard in Arlington was broken into last Thurslay night by breaking out a large plate of glass in a front window. Several articles were stolen, including jacktered, but nothing was taken.

W. Shelton Swallow of New York city has arrived in Burlington to take charge of the building of the new Hotel Vermont. Mr. Swallow will be-gin his work about September 25 and will employ from 40 to 50 men. The marble for the hotel will be furnished by the Vermont Marble Co. and the nterior finishing by the Champlain Manufacturing Co.

Elissha Cooledge Davis.one of Bethel's oldest persons and a lifelong resident, died Friday evening after a long period of failing powers. He was 92 years old last February and was the last of a large family, remarkable for longevity The average age at the times of their death of the six sons of Nathan and Katherine (Clark) Davis was 88 years. All were born in Bethel.

The bleach, which has been put into the reservoir and tributary streams at Rutland, has killed many trout and suckers, and the caretaker and his helper are removing the dead fish as fast as they come to the surface. It is thought that this was caused by the too frequent use of a too strong solution, and health officer Dr. C. F. Ball thinks the fault has now been remedied. a pine which will grow only near the sencoast. Its growth is slow, and it does not attain to great size.

The strange thing about it is that there are, to all appearances, insurmountable difficulties in the way of the perpetuation of the species. Some knives, shoes, underclothing and a small specimens of it exist in Kew gardens, in London. They have been carefully store and the post office were also enexamined by competent authorities, and all admit that the tree presents a problem unlike anything elsewhere met with.

> This pine produces at regular intervals the usual cones containing seeds; but, strange to say, the cones are so thoroughly protected that the seeds cannot be released. The cones are hard and tightly closed and have strong overlapping scales.

More extraordinary still is the fact that the pine, after producing its almost invulnerable cones, keeps them hanging on its branches year after year. Unless through some peculiar accident the seeds would apparently remain attached to the parent tree forever. Many of the cones on the trees in Kew gardens have been there for years, as is shown by the size of the branches and the formation of the

It has been found that the seed vessels which this tree so powerfully retain are so well protected that it requires a strong knife with the assistance of a heavy hammer to cut the cone luto sections. No ordinary conditions of temperature can make a cone open.

The following is the only explanation yet offered that seems to have any degree of plausibility: The species may be perpetuated by fire. One who has studied the tree asserts that nothing but the intense heat of a forest fire could compel the cones to release
